The 23rd annual meeting of the Aeromedical Society of India is scheduled to be held in November 1980 at Bangalore. Members who desire to present scientific papers should contact the Secretary of the society.

It is proposed to hold two interesting symposia during the forthcoming sessions. Likely subjects of the symposia are heat problems related to aviation medicine and hyperbaric medicine.

Human engineering panel under the aegis of Aeronautics Research & Development Board has been constituted and some major projects in the field of human engineering have been sanctioned by the Board. Members of the society should avail of this opportunity and initiate research projects which can be conducted either in the laboratories or in the field. The scheme also provides for utilising facilities of all R & D Laboratories by the workers.
